ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A wireless AV station is furnished with an Internet browsing function, a TV viewing function, a TV recording and playback function and a message board function, and these 5 multiple functions are activated by a command from a plurality of personal computers each operating as remote controllers, and/or a dedicated remote controller. A control portion executes exclusive control among multiple functions based on exclusive control data, so that 10 concurrently available functions may be used independently by a plurality of remote controllers.
